

Haven't you always wanted to perform on PBS?

Dani Berthiaume Davis '84 and her husband, Jason Howland, have created a rock adaptation of the famous oratorio, Handel's Messiah,

Joyful Noise: Handel's Messiah Rocks!

Cutler Majestic Theater

at Emerson College, Boston

September 21

7 pm to 9 pm

(Doors close promptly at 6:50 pm with no late seating.)

Staged and directed by Dani, it will feature Keith Lockhart and the Boston Pops, three soloists, including Tony Award winner LaChanze (The Color Purple), and members of the chorus of U-Mass Lowell Music Department.

This interactive extravaganza will be filmed for airing on local PBS stations in December with a DVD available during the holidays.

In line with the tradition of Handel's Messiah, audience members will participate throughout the concert, and will raise their voices in the sing-along Hallelujah Chorus!

Members of the NDA community are invited to participate by being in the audience for the filming!

Tickets are limited and are on a first come, first serve basis for NDA students, faculty, alumnae. and friends!

Tickets: $49.50    Deadline: September 15, 2008
